Pat MacMahon was for thirty years one of Scotland's leading sopranos and for many years senior vocal tutor at the Royal Conservatoire of Scotland; she is now respected internationally as an expert in voice production and interpretation. Pat has strong connections with Carlisle, which started with her teacher, Ena Mitchell. She will be giving advice and instruction to facilitate the development of each singer in a way that will be interesting to all who attend.

The class offers singers the chance to perform a song (lasting no more than 5 minutes) that they will enjoy singing for Pat and the audience. Numbers are limited and the successful applicants will be informed shortly after the closing date.
